

EUDR – Regulation for deforestation-free products

On June 29, 2023, the EU regulation for deforestation-free supply chains came into force, which prohibits the trade of raw materials and products that cause deforestation and forest degradation.

According to the amendment regulation of 23 December 2024, the effective date will now be postponed as stated above. Deforestation-free products are products that are produced on areas that were not deforested after the 31st of December 2020 or for which no forest damage took place after the 31st of December 2020.

Relevant products derived from the following commodities:

-  Cattle
-  soy
-  oil palm
-  wood
-  coffee
-  cocoa
-  rubber

The list of products in Annex 1 of the Regulation is regularly reviewed and expanded.

Want to find out more about Markant's EUDR service?

eudr@info.markant.com

How can Markant support you?

Markant supports you in meeting the EUDR requirements with our comprehensive expertise and extensive network. As a leading EDI service provider, we already network numerous suppliers and retailers for the efficient exchange of orders, dispatch advices and other message types. Markant offers:

- Strong network: Use our established network to gain immediate access to numerous partners.
- Detailed questionnaire and data collection support from your partners.
- Support from Markant's specialized customer service team.
- Organization and communication with your suppliers for comprehensive risk assessments.
- Complete EDI support: We offer an EDI solution for companies that want to embark on the path to EDI competence.

Want to find out more about Markant's EUDR service?

eudr@info.markant.com

Advantages of choosing Markant :

- Reduced effort: Optimize your human resources through comprehensive EUDR data processing, especially for risk assessment.
- Time saving: Save time by having a central contact person for your business partners who bundles all information and questions relating to EUDR.
- Knowledge advantage: Benefit from fast and targeted knowledge transfer on the risks relevant to you.
- Security: With the support of our expert teams, you are always on the safe side.
- Discounted prices: Secure attractive conditions through our framework agreements.